WELCOME

to Women Leading Travel & Hospitality - We're so happy you're here!

Our community is comprised of successful, motivated and passionate women executives who have a strong belief that investing in themselves and in other women is good business. From CEOs with years of experience to directors working their way up the ladder, the common thread is women coming together to learn from each other and help each other succeed. Some are already at the top of their fields, while others are on their way. Focused on strategy and executive professional development, Women Leading Travel & Hospitality offers members the opportunity to share best practices, discuss industry issues, and find inspiration on how to conquer challenges in their professional careers and personal lives.

Beyond directly connecting you with the industry's leading women executives, benefits of membership include discounted event registrations, exclusive member-only content, a job directory, a private networking forum, and so much more. You'll see all the benefits of membership in the following pages, and you can learn more by visiting our website at womenleadingtravelandhospitality.com.

We hope you will join us!
